ORIGIN

Of a Famous Human Food.

The story of great discoveries or inventions is always of interest.

An active brain worker who found himself hampered by lack of boddly strength and vigor and could not carry out the plans and enterprises he kend how to conduct was jed to study various foods and their effects upon the human system. In other words before he could carry out his plans he had to find a food that would carry him along and renew his physical and mental strength.

He knew that a food that was a brain and nerve builder, (rather than a mere fat maker), was universally needed. He knew that meat with the average man does not accomplish the desired results. He knew that the soft gray substance in brain and nerve centers is made from Albumen and Phosphate of Potash obtained from food. Then he started to solve the problem.

Careful and extensive experiments evolved Grape-Nuts contain the brain and nervous system making it a marked sturdiness and activity of the brain and nervous system making it a marked sturdiness and activity of the brain and nervous system making it a pleasure for one to carry on the daily duties without fatigue or exhaustion. "The report that my brother had been back several days before he gave himself up is entirely untrue," said Mr. Alexander Fitzgerald last night. "The first up is entirely untrue." said Mr. Alexander Fitsgerald last night. "The first knowledge I had of his return was about 9:80 o'clock Friday morning, when his wife sent for me to come to her, and I was surprised to see him when I reached the house. He told me that he came back purposely to give himself up, and then we arranged for him to surrender himself to Mr. Wright as soon as it was dark. Had we gone to the station house during the day there might have been comment, excitement and other annoyances, so we thought it wise to await the coming of darkness."

Mr. Fitzgerald did come home Thursday evening. He made no effort to conceal himself, but got off the train at Eiba, took a street car to Ninth and Main Streets, walked down to Fourteenth on Main, and thence across Mayo's Bridge to his home. There he remained with his family until the next morning.

NEW OFFICERS AND NEW CONSTITUTION

Lakeside Country Club Holds Well-Attended and Important Meeting.

The Lakeside Country Club held its annual meeting last night at the commodious and elegant club-house at Lake-side Park, and the attendance, despite the downpour of ram, was the largest, probably, the club has ever had.

The object of the meeting was for the election of officers and directors of the election of officers and directors of the club and for the adoption of a new constitution. The meeting was called to order to 6:30 o clock. The election is 955 cers followed at once. Mr. L. B. Tatum was re-viected president and Air. Abram Warwick re-elected secretary and treasurer. The following directors were chosen: Messrs. Warwick W. A. Northrop, Gessner Harrison, Richard Wothem and H. T. Ellyson, The constitution adopted is totally different from that of the wheel club. It gives the organization all the acope and privileges of a country club. It was estimated that not less than 175 members were present. At 9 o'clock they went into the supper room and greatly enjoyed one of the best spreads ever laid in the history of the club.
